WERE NEAR DEATH

Senator and Mrs. Gal- linger In Great Peril

ESCAPE ENTIRELY DUE TO GOOD FORTUNE

Were Struck By An Electric Car On Washington Street

MRS. GALLINGER DRAGGED THIRTY FEET AND SEVERELY INJURED

(Special to The Herald)

Washington, Jan. 5.—Both Senator and Mrs. Jacob H. Gallinger are suffering from injuries recently received in an accident from which they were fortunate to escape with their lives. They were both struck by an electric car on Wednesday evening and that they were not fatally injured is due to what is very like a miracle.

Senator and Mrs. Gallinger were on their way to the house of some friends and had just alighted from a car. They were crossing the tracks and failed to see a car approaching from a direction opposite to the one they had just left.

Mrs. Gallinger was struck by the fender of the car and fell. She alighted upon the fender and was carried a distance of thirty feet before the car could be stopped. She was severely shaken and received a bad cut on the back of the head.

Senator Gallinger might have escaped, but in attempting to save his wife was also struck by the car and hurled more than ten feet. He was also shaken and bruised and received several cuts on the face when he fell.

Mr. and Mrs. Gallinger were assisted to their Washington home and a physician was called. Several stitches were necessary to close the wound on Mrs. Gallinger's head.

Both are able to be about and Mr.
Gallinger is attending to his duties at the capital, but it will be some time before they fully recover from the effects of the accident.

FOR SUPERIOR COURT

New London Man and Woman Held In Sum of $3000

New London, Jan. 5.—As the result of a hearing on Thursday, Mrs.
Salem Ferry was held for the superior court in the sum of $3000 on the charge of making away with an illegitimate child. Perley M. Prescott, accused of being an accessory, was required to furnish bonds to the same amount.

Witnesses testified to having seen evidences of the birth of a child and of noticing traces of blood from Mrs.
Ferry's chamber to a stove in the kitchen. It was also stated at the hearing that Prescott had been seen near Mrs. Ferry's house at about the time of the alleged birth of the child.
It was further said that he had been associated with Mrs. Ferry for about four years.

The witnesses included Mrs.
Charles Messer, the accused woman's sister, Dr. Anna M. Littlefield and Mrs. Jeannette Dean.

Mrs. Ferry, it is said, has a husband living in Concord.

MISS ROOSEVELT'S WEDDING FEB. 17

dent and Mrs. Roosevelt have announced that the wedding of Miss Alice Roosevelt to Representative
Longworth of Cincinnati will occur

GIFT OF GOLD COIN

Generous Christmas Remem- brance To Employees

BOSTON ELEVATED ESTABLISHES A NOTABLE RECORD

Of the many public service corporations which have this year remembered their faithful employees by substantial Christmas presents, reports show that the largest contribution was made by the elevated railroad of Boston.

Nearly $60,000 in gold was distributed among the men in the car service who have made a sufficiently good record during the year 1905. In round numbers close on 4,000 motor-men, conductors, brakemen and other blue uniformed employees received $15 in gold coin in recognition of the company's appreciation of their faithfulness.

This company operates nearly all of the surface street car lines, elevated lines and subway lines in and near Boston and is often held up as a model for other large employers of labor to pattern after. It pays higher wages than any other street railway company. Surface car men receive $2.25 to $2.40 per day and elevated line men from $1.85 to $2.65 per day. It never discharges an employee so long as his conduct and work is satisfactory. It pensions its old employees who have passed their days of usefulness. It contributes toward the support of sick and disabled employees. It aids those who are in trouble by placing its legal department at the service of the men for the purpose of free consultation and advice. In fact, the management takes advantage of every opportunity to demonstrate a human interest in every man who wears a blue uniform and the annual distribution of gold in recognition of faithfulness and efficiency is in keeping with the policy that has made the company famous at home and abroad for its liberality and public spirit.

EIGHTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

John W. Hutchinson, Famous Singer, Celebrates His Birthday

John W. Hutchinson, the famous singer and last survivor of the noted Hutchinson family, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday at his home in Milford on Thursday.

Mr. Hutchinson, it will be remembered, was married in this city last August to Mrs. Agnes P. Everest of Washington. The ceremony was performed by Mayor Marvin.

The only near relative of Mr.
Hutchinson now living, besides his wife, is a daughter, living at High Rock, Lynn, Mass.

The Hutchinson family's first concert was given in Milford on Thanksgiving day, 1839, and it immediately became famous. The present sole survivor of the family and his sons sang in Union military camps during the Civil War.

NEW QUARTERS

Secured By Longshoremen on Corner of Daniel and Penhallow Streets

The longshoremen, who formerly had quarters in the block on Market street now occupied by Thomas Lynsky, have rented a room in the block on the corner of Daniel and Penhallow streets over the meat market.

The new quarters will be fitted up by the longshoremen, who will soon celebrate opening night, for which preparations are now being made.
Several new members, who have filed applications with the union, will later be admitted.

A REMARKABLE INCREASE

In the year 1905, the Boston Herald carried 2419 columns of display advertising more than it carried in the year 1904, a remarkable increase, especially in view of the fact that the Boston Herald has declined to publish hundreds of columns of the so called medical advertisements that have appeared so conspicuously on the pages of certain other publications.

For New Governor Of The Bay State

CURTIS GUILD, JR., INAUGURATED

Guests And Officials Witness Impressive Ceremony

ENTIRE PROCEEDING OCCUPIED LESS THAN AN HOUR

Boston, Jan. 4.—Curtis Guild, Jr., of Boston, was proclaimed governor of Massachusetts for the current political year in the hall of the house of representatives shortly after noon today. A large gathering, consisting of members of both branches of the legislature and invited guests, witnessed the administration of the oaths of office to the new governor as well as to Lieutenant Governor Eben S. Draper of Hopedale.

Secretary of State Olin made the proclamation in stentorian voice which was answered by the customary salute from a battery of artillery from the nearby common. The new executive delivered his inaugural address, which proved to be an interesting but unusually short document. Proceedings occupied less than an hour.

An unusually large gathering of invited guests had assembled in the executive department while the relatives and friends of the members of the legislature crowded the spacious gallery in the house. An even larger crowd stood behind a long row of policemen in the farther part of the corridor leading to the entrance of the house.

The entire assembly rose as the two successful candidates at the last election marched down the aisle, followed by members of the executive council, the governor's private secretary, Charles F. Gettemy, the staff and a long line of distinguished officials, both state and national as well as a number of foreign consuls in Boston.

The governor-elect rose and, standing beside President Dana, repeated after the presiding officer the oath of office. Governor Guild then wrote his name in the little Morocco bound book containing the names of nearly all of his distinguished predecessors. Stepping back, he gave place to Secretary of State William N. Olin, who made the customary proclamation.

Governor Guild began his inaugural address with a review of the position of Boston among the cities and of Massachusetts among the states of the country. Attention was called to the fact that Boston stands second on New York in total exports and imports and as having within the limits of the so-called "greater" city one-third of the population of the entire United States. He cited the fact that Massachusetts is seventh among the states in population, for the annual value of her manufactures, and third in the annual amount paid in wages, in assessed valuation of property, and in wealth. The governor gave statistics showing the amount of the manufactures of the state and her savings bank deposits.

On the lavish use of money in elections, saying:

"When a citizen asked by his fellow citizens to take public office is forced to contemplate such huge expenditure as a necessity, the obvious result is to drive the man of modest means from public life."

Enlarging upon this topic Governor Guild said:

"The parsimony of the United States makes the richest nation in the world the only one that cannot be represented, thanks to the expense of the position, by a poor man as ambassador to a foreign court. Let us not, in Massachusetts, make it impossible for some future Samuel Adams to be a candidate for governor."

In this connection he made the following recommendations:

"Some limitation on the total amount to be spent by any candidate; a more stringent penalty, which should be strictly enforced, for those who fail to file election expenses; the voiding of an election where deliberate and serious violations of the provisions of the act are proved against the successful candidate; and, finally, the absolute prohibition of contribution from corporations in campaigns, either for nomination or election."

The governor advocated the extension of the civil service laws to include heads of departments and a salary for the chairman of the commission. Governor Guild said on insurance matters:

"The revelations as to the practices of the great life insurance companies of New York have roused the country to just indignation. Our own Massachusetts life insurance companies organized under our own laws contain no instance of such predatory companies organized for stock speculation, nor are they burdened with the exorbitant salary lists of the New York companies."

"No one limit of graft, or even of political interference, is directed, in this general storm of criticism, against the insurance department of this commonwealth. It is the admitted standard of efficiency in the country. At such a crisis a commonwealth with such a record cannot relinquish leadership."

"Our first duty is to recodify our laws. I, therefore, recommend that the governor be authorized at once to appoint a temporary and advisory board, who shall revise and codify our insurance laws."

The governor recommended the abolition of special railroad privileges, and that telegraph and telephone corporations be brought under state supervision. He urged stricter inspection of boilers, saying: "Present conditions are a menace not only to property but to human life."

He suggested legislation for a more general medical inspection of school children. On this point he said: "A child may be addled at school and a failure in life because of undiscovered defects in eyesight or hearing."

An adequate representation of the commonwealth at the Jamestown exposition was advocated. A reorganization of the Boston police board was also recommended, an excise board of three members to have the power to grant licenses and a single commissioner to be at the head of the police department.

The governor urged the extension of facilities for the care of the feeble minded and a more effective enforcement of the laws against child labor.

He suggested changing the statutes so as to require parent officers to visit factories, workshops and mercantile establishments and to report any breach of the law at once to the district attorney. In this connection, Governor Guild said:

"Agents of the state bureau of labor statistics report to me that a shameful trade exists, which supplies for money false age and schooling certificates to children under age. This report is confirmed by the district police. The present penalty for forcing a child of tender years into a factory by the perjury of unnatural parents or others is a trivial fine. I shall leave it to your sense of justice whether a light fine without imprisonment is punishment severe enough for law breakers who today in Massachusetts traffic not only in the toll but in the health and lives of little children."

A conclusion of the address the assembly dispersed and the senate returned to its chamber. Within half an hour, however, another joint convention was held, at which the members of the new executive council were sworn in.

NAVAL NOTES

Secretary Bonaparte has acted upon the proceedings of the court martial in the case of Commander Luther Young of the Bennington, who was tried on charges connected with the fatal explosion on that vessel at San Diego last summer. The court ordered Commander Young guilty of a part of the specifications alleging negligence of duty and sentenced him to receive a letter of reprimand, which sentence will be carried out.

It is reported by the New York Mail that a movement is being endeavored to promote Rear Admiral Bobby D. Evans to the new rank of vice admiral with an annual salary of $10,000 and the command of the "Atlantic fleet," to be made up of the Caribbean squadron and the South Atlantic fleet. According to the plan there is to be no more "North Atlantic fleet," such vessels as stray away from the main body of American warships from time to time will be known as divisions or detachments. "Divisions," of course, has the power of making the new rank.

A Washington dispatch of Jan. 2 says: Again the wireless telegraph system of the navy has collapsed all previous records. The Colon station has sent to Rear Admiral Manney, chief of the bureau of equipment of the navy, which has this work in charge, transcripts of conversation between the stations at Manhattan beach and Pensacola, which it overheard on the evening of Dec. 19. The listening between Colon and Manhattan beach, the extreme range of the message, is 2150 miles. So extraordinary was this feat that the bureau hesitated about making it public, and has only done so after receiving corroborative evidence from several points. This not only beats any previous record made by the bureau, but it beats the record of the first transatlantic cable, which reached only 1800 miles, from Newfoundland to the west coast of Ireland. The bureau is now prepared to receive from any distance, regardless of the intervening waters. At the same time the effect is constantly along the line of making, not unusual records, but establishing a thorough and reliable means of communication and a given and comparatively limited effect.

KENTUCKY'S HOME COMING

On June 13, 14, 15, 16 and 17 of this year, the Louisville Commercial Club is to have under its auspices a "Home Coming" for all Kentuckians, patterned somewhat after the idea of Former Governor Rollins of New Hampshire, the originator of the "Old Home Week" idea, though Secretary R. E. Hughes of the Commercial Club appears to credit it to New England indiscriminately.

The Louisville, Kentucky, "Home Coming" is indeed an elaboration of the New Hampshire idea, the single city of Louisville acting in behalf of the state after a most regal fashion. While we New Hampshire folk are quite satisfied with our own style, we acknowledge that Louisville presents a list of attractions which it would be difficult for any single New England city or town to duplicate.

June 13 is to be known as "Reception and Welcome day." Every county in the state will then establish headquarters in Louisville, where visitors will register their names. A civic and military parade will follow. "Marse Henry" Waterson, the famous eater of fire and "pert paragraphs," will deliver the chief address of welcome, and Former Governor David R. Francis of Missouri will respond. Others whose names appear on the program are former Senators Wm. Lindsay and John G. Carlisle, of New York City; Associate Justice John M. Harlan, of the United States Supreme Court; former Governor Thomas T. Crittenden, of Missouri, and former Vice President Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois. This list will be enlarged with the names of such other Kentuckians as have, in adopted homes, marked their names prominently on the roll of fame in the law, the ministry, and commercial pursuits.

The program for the following days is announced as follows:

Thursday, June 14th, is to be "Foster day," in honor of Stephen Collins Foster, the author of the immortal song, "My Old Kentucky Home." The events of this day will include brass bands and vocal concerts, it being planned to mass several bands to render "My Old Kentucky Home," and have a chorus of several thousand children honor Foster's memory. The Commercial Club has arranged with Miss Enid Yandell, the noted Kentucky sculptor, to make a statue of Foster to be unveiled on this day, to be later placed in the new Capitol at Frankfort. This statue will cost about $6,000, and will be paid for out of contributions by the school children of Kentucky.

Friday, June 15th, "Daniel Boone day" will give both host and guest the opportunity of paying tribute to the Kentucky pioneer, reviving the State's earliest history, the trials and privations of its men and women in the eighteenth century, the fights led by Gen. George Rogers Clark, Kentuckians at the River Raisin, etc. It is expected that the entire day will be spent in the parks of Louisville. Following the oratory there will be given old fashioned games, in which prizes will be awarded. Other features of the day will include sewing bees, apple parings and corn huskings, the day concluding with the "Virginia Reel," danced on a platform, built inside a stockade, to hold a thousand couples. The Club is now arranging for the necessary shocks of corn and barrels of apples to be used in the huskings and parings. Special recognition is to be paid on this day to all the kindred of Boone who attend the festivities. A handsome medal will be given the person present who can prove the closest relationship to the great pioneer. Arrangements have been made with Col. C. C. Bickel, who has presented the city of Louisville with a statue of Daniel Boone, to have this statue unveiled on Daniel Boone Day. The statue is being placed in a picturesque spot in Cherokee Park—a spot that would have warmed Boone's daring spirit toward Louisville.

Saturday, June 16th, has been set aside as "Greater Kentucky day," with barbecues, campfires, and the like: a day when the speakers can tell how Kentuckians have assisted in making the fields of other states more prolific, the bench and bar of other states more learned, their press more profound; how Kentuckians have helped disclose the hidden mineral treasures of other states; and how they have contributed to advancement under all conditions.

Sunday, June 18th, will be given over to the spirit inspired by the song, "Until We Meet Again." All the pulpits of the Louisville churches will be filled by ministers of the gospel who are former Kentuckians.

On each page of the elaborately gotten up invitations appears appropriate verses written by Kentuckians, at the head of whom stands Madison Cawein, who is not only "Louisville's poet," as set forth in the invitation book, but also of the nation, leading all our living poets, as was generally conceded even before President Roosevelt set his seal of approval upon that statement. William Lightfoot Vischer, formerly of Kentucky, is represented by typical verses, and Ingram Crockett gives a description of "June in Kentucky."

Incalculable benefits aside from the very material pleasures of the occasion, should result to the Blue Grass state from the Louisville "Home Coming," and that such may indeed be the fact is the wish of New Hampshire for her sister state.

As was naturally to be expected, President Roosevelt had the good sense and sound judgment to promptly put a veto upon the plan to give his daughter a wedding present of money raised by popular subscription among the American people. The Boston Transcript comments editorially on the fact that fire truck in Jersey City was recently called out to rescue a cat that had taken flight into a tall tree and refused to come down, even under the impulse of hunger. YORK BEACH CASE

New Being Heard Before Court At Saco

SUIT FOR $5,000 AS RESULT OF AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

The latest case called before the York county court now sitting at Saco is a suit for $5,000 for damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff at York Beach in the month of July, 1904, when he was run over by the automobile of Horace S. Bacon of Lowell and had his leg broken, besides sustaining other damages.

The first witness was Civil Engineer William Ames of Berwick, who made plans of the scene of the accident.

The next witness was the plaintiff, George W. Hooper of Wells. He was on the stand the balance of the afternoon Wednesday, and was subjected to a rigid cross examination by Judge Cleaves.

His testimony was to the effect that while driving in his team he heard the automobile approaching and turned in his seat and held up his hand for the machine to stop, as he knew that his horse was scared of automobiles. No attention was paid to his signal and he stopped the horse and started for the bridge so as to hold the animal. Before he was able to do so, he was struck down by the automobile, which was going at a high rate of speed. Witness was knocked down in the road and his horse ran away, being finally caught and brought back. Mr. Bacon, the defendant, stopped his machine and came back to where Mr. Hooper was lying in the road and Mr. Hooper told him that his leg was broken, at the same time asking defendant what his name was. This question was evaded, Bacon saying that he was a stranger in these parts and was merely taking a trip through the country. There was a lady with Mr. Bacon in the automobile and in a little while they went off in the machine. Witness ascertained the number of the machine and later instituted proceedings for a suit, after ascertaining who was the owner of the machine. Witness averred that he was subjected to a lot of expense and was also unable to attend to his business for a long time in consequence of his injury.

Mrs. Carrie B. Fotte was the first witness of the session Thursday morning. She was visiting at York at the time of the accident and on that day was going toward Short Sands. She heard the noise made by the automobile which had just come around the corner near Mr. Holt's house and it was going very fast. It was going so fast that she had to get out of the highway for fear of being hit. Almost instantly the car hit Mr. Hooper and he was prostrate in the road.

Witness stepped up to Mr. Hooper and in a short time the driver of the car came back and asked if he could do anything for Mr. Hooper. He replied that he guessed he would have to have a doctor as his leg was broken. The driver of the car finally went away without giving his name.

A second automobile came along and one of the occupants got out and gave Mr. Hooper a drink out of a flask. This man with some others moved Mr. Hooper to the side of the road and doctor who was sent for came and pronounced the leg broken. He was put into a team and carried off.

The plaintiff was very pale after being struck and seemed to be suffering internally. Witness did not remember that Mr. Bacon made any examination of the injured man.

On cross examination witness was shown a plan of the scene of the accident. Witness was accompanied by another lady at the time she witnessed the accident. She had noticed the team before she saw the automobile. Where they were walking was just a path and as there were two together she was somewhat in the highway. Both ladies jumped toward the fence and as they did so they were facing the automobile, which had just passed her. Saw Mr. Hooper get out of his team, before the automobile struck him. He alighted from the left side and walked a few steps toward his horse's head. The machine got to him before he had reached the bridge. There was a lady with Mr. Bacon, but witness did not talk with her. The machine stopped about four lengths off after the accident. She saw the horse of Mr. Hooper brought back after it had run away. Mr. Bacon told Mr. Hooper that his leg was not broken, after Mr. Hooper said it was. After Mr. Bacon had offered assistance Mr. Hooper asked him his name, saying haven't I seen you before, Mr. Bacon replied that he was a stranger in these parts.

THE THEATRICAL FOLK

The Sarah Bernhardt Engagement

That Sarah Bernhardt's engagement of two weeks at the Boston Theatre, which begins Monday, Jan. 15, will break all local theatrical records, may be assumed from the interest which is displayed, not only in Boston, but in all the surrounding territory. It is announced that special rates may be made by the different railroads running into Boston during the Bernhardt engagement.

The repertoire which Madame Bernhardt offers is composed of the most popular plays in which she has ever been seen, ranging from the severe classicism of "Phedre" to the machine made melodrama of Sardon, such as "Fedora," and the sentimental love story of Alexander Dumas, "Camille," "Adrienne Lecouvreur" (Wednesday matinee), "Angelo," "Sapho," "Fedora," "Phedre," (Saturday matinee) and "La Femme de Claude" with "Dohemos." The second week embraces "Adrienne Lecouvreur," "Magda," "Camille" (Wednesday matinee), "La Tosca," "Sapho," "Phedre," "Fedora" (Saturday matinee) and "La Sorciere."

Monday next, with the opening of the regular box office sale, the demand bids fair to be as great as was the case in New York, where the theatre recorded a "sell out" at every performance.

Keith's Theatre

A strong and well balanced variety program, fully up to the standard of any seen at that popular playhouse this season, will be offered at Keith's the week of Jan. 8. Quite an original and unique hilariously funny sketch, "Motoring" will head the big bill. The little sketch is presented by Harry Tate and company, and it is safe to say there is nothing funnier on the vaudeville or "legitimate" stage. A New York writer waxes enthusiastic over this little sketch and declares there are more laughs in its twenty minutes than you usually get in a whole evening's performance. Included in the surrounding bill will be Al W. Pilsen and Leo Erroll, in their funny farce, "A Tip on the Derby," the Six Glincorettis, an organization of two wonderful European acrobats; Julian Platings, formerly of the cadets' theatricals, and now the foremost terapichorean artist in America; George Wilson, blackface comedian and stump orator; Pat Rooney and Marion Bent, in a comedy and acrobatic specialties; Luigi Del Oro, European novelty instrumentalist; Leo Carrillo, mimoeic comedian and whistler; and Smith and Baker, singers and dancers. The kinetograph will show the usual list of comedy and interesting motion pictures.

The members of York Grange will give a supper and entertainment at Grange Hall, Brixham, Tuesday evening, Jan. 9.

VANILLA CREAM. FROSTED PEACHES. Soak one-half box of gelatine in one-quarter cup of cold water for fifteen minutes. Heat one pint of milk in a double boiler. Beat the yolks of five eggs in a quart bowl, add seven-eighths of a cup of sugar and turn on the boiling milk gradually. Beat constantly, then turn back into the double boiler and cook until thick and smooth. Add the soaked gelatine and one teaspoonful vanilla flavoring. Beat and turn into a brick mould that has been rinsed in cold water. Set away to cool and harden. Beat the white of an egg stiff and fold in two level tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar. Put a spoonful of this meringue on halves of canned or cooked peach and set in a moderate oven about eight minutes to brown slightly. Serve the peaches cold as a garnish to the cream. Sometimes a gelatine mixture refuses to leave the mould without breaking. If the shape permits, run a thin knife round the edges, then if it refuses to come out wet a cloth in boiling water and lay over the mould for a minute or dip it quickly into hot water. A melon mould and a ring mould are very useful, but for other shapes, square or round tins, common bowls of various sizes, and for individual service, cups and little patty pans are even better than fancy moulds with designs stamped in them.

HAS HIGH RECORD

York Minister Has Married 745 Couples

AND HAS OFFICIATED AT 1235 FUNERALS

A record that probably is hard to beat is that which the York Transcript has learned in connection with the ministerial career of Rev. John A. Goss, pastor of the Christian Church at York Corner.

During his ministry Mr. Goss has united 745 couples in marriage and officiated at 1235 funerals.

During the year of 1905 just closed he has united eight couples in marriages and officiated at twenty-nine funerals. Sixteen of these deaths were in York, eight in Kittery, four in this city and one in Somerville, Mass.

An interesting fact connected with the above figures is the pastor's statement that out of these 745 marriages he has knowledge of only one instance where a couple were divorced.

Mr. Goss has held pastorates in Lynn, Haverhill, Portsmouth, Kittery and Manchester, and he is now serving his sixth year as the pastor of the York Christian Church.

IN GOOD EARNST

Work Of Dredging York Harbor Has Begun

The dredging of York harbor has begun in good earnest, although not progressing quite so fast as the contractors would like. At the point where they have first begun work they have encountered a very hard sandy bottom which makes dredging rather slow and difficult, and some delay was experienced last week by the breaking of one of the large guy poles.

Mr. Sawyer seems to think, too, that the kind of scoop that is being used is not adapted to the character of bottom, and it is understood that another will be substituted.

The weather conditions are perfect for the work, and as soon as the preliminary difficulties have been surmounted it is expected that things will move forward at good pace.

RECEIVER ASKED For Financial Institution of Boston BY STATE SAVINGS BANK COMMISSIONERS

Provident Securities and Banking Company In Trouble

IS TEMPORARILY RESTRAINED FROM CONTINUING ITS BUSINESS

Boston, Jan. 3.—An injunction restraining the Provident Securities and Banking Company of this city from doing further business was petitioned for on Thursday afternoon in the Massachusetts supreme court by the state savings bank commissioners.

The court issued a temporary injunction, and a hearing will be held today on the question of appointing a receiver.

The company is organized under the laws of South Dakota, and it has an authorized capital of $1,500,000, had about 8900 depositors with an average deposit from each of about $20. The savings bank commissioner alleges that the banking company

CAN YOU TELL WHAT AILS THIS MAN?

He has a tremendous appetite, yet has no desire to exert himself in the least. He seems lazy and indolent. His sleep is fitful and troubled. He has pains under his shoulder blades and a bitter taste remains in his mouth. His tongue is often furred and coated. He is dizzy when he gets up to walk or arises from stooping over. One day his bowels may move, but the next day he is constipated. The natural sewers of the body become clogged up, the bile in the stomach not being able to pass out through the natural channels is absorbed into the blood. If you said "he is a bilious man," you would be exactly right, but how few there are who know what to do for such a condition. See here! Read carefully, and you will find out what to do. was unable to meet its obligations. The Provident Securities and Banking Company has engaged in the general banking business, but has made a specialty of soliciting small deposits. In this connection the institution has distributed small loans to encourage the habit of saving on the part of the people. Bank books have been substituted for these banks upon presentation at the company's offices, 100 Franklin street. Several weeks ago the attention of the savings bank commissioners was called to the company's affairs and an investigation followed.

According to the evidence of the commissioners in the supreme court on Thursday, the money deposited with the company, which aggregated $182,000, had been poorly invested. At a given moment the commissioners allege, not more than $1800 could have been realized by the company for the purpose of meeting any obligations. The commissioners were of the opinion that the best interests of the community and of the depositors were concerned by bringing about the suspension of the company's business and by the naming of a receiver to take charge of its affairs.

Samuel Dalton, for many years adjunct-general for Massachusetts, is president of the bank, Lorenzo W. Burden secretary and treasurer, and the other directors are William H. Brigham and Charles D. Curley.

OBITUARY

Solomon Varrell

The people of York were genuinely grieved to learn of the death of Solomon Varrell, which occurred last Saturday evening in Harvey, Illinois.

Mr. Varrell left home when quite a young man, and was for twenty-one years cashier of the Chicago and Alton railroad and for the last fifteen years was identified with the Illinois Central. Though coming East only at rare intervals he always retained an ardent affection for his native town, and his earnest wish was to find in it a final resting place.

Honorable, genial and possessing a most lovable nature, he made friends wherever he went, and truly may it be said of him:

"None knew him but to love him None named him but to praise."

Mr. Varrell was seventy-six years of age and was a son of Captain William and Sophia Varrell, and was born in the old homestead on the river bank. The immediate survivors are two daughters, Miss Florence Varrell of York and Mrs. Ida Williams of Harvey, Ill., the latter with whom the father resided; also a sister, Miss Sarah Varrell of York.

The body was brought East arriving in York Tuesday, and the funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the sister's cottage—the house in which deceased was born in 1830, and which was built in the Revolutionary period. The services were conducted by Rev. S. K. Perkins of the First Congregational parish.

John Caswell

John Caswell, an aged resident of this city, died at his home, No. 4 South street, Thursday night. He is survived by his wife. Mr. Caswell formerly lived at the Isles of Shoals and was a man who had many friends, especially in the South End district.

COSTLY SPORT

A well known couple from York and a local sport who went over to York for some fun a few nights ago had plenty of sport, which, however, was very costly when he had to settle for a buggy that was completely wrecked as a result of the horse becoming frightened, to say nothing of the ride the two Yorkers had on the fish cart. The Portsmouth owners of the buggy gathered it up in small pieces.

Bells have been employed in association with religious worship since the early days of Egypt. Cymbals and hand bells and small crotals served for the festival of Isis. Aaron and other Jewish high priests wore bells of gold upon their raiment. In camp and garrison the Greeks employed bells. The Romans announced the hour of bathing by their melody.

Sunny Spots.

There is one spot in Switzerland (Lugano) which has an average of daily sunshine for the year 6.1 hours) higher than Padua (5.6), and nearly as high as Rome (6.7). Basel has only 4.7 hours. Denmark has the same daily amount of sunshine as England—3.3 hours, while Germany has from 1.2 to 1.8; the sunniest spot in Ger-

COMFORT BAGS SENT

To Men of Lumber Camps Of The State

IN BEHALF OF THE PORTSMOUTH W. C. T. U.

Mrs. James Bilbruck, the local superintendent of the lumberman's department of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and who is secretary of the Portsmouth branch, has with other interested members been engaged in preparing and packing comfort bags for the benefit of men in camp.

These measure eight by ten, are made of fancy cretonne and every bag contains black and white linen thread, bandages, medicated cotton, salve, pins, needles, buttons, pieces of cloth, sticking plaster, a bar of soap, paper, envelopes, pencils and other helpful aids, including a New Testament.

Other bags, known as "union" bags, measure fourteen by sixteen and contain the above materials in larger quantities.

These have been packed in barrels and surrounded with wholesome literature for the reading benefit of the lumbermen in camp, and on Thursday Mrs. Bilbruck personally saw to the shipping of the well filled barrel which went to the John Murphy camp at North Stratford, this state, in care of the Connecticut Lumber camp. In some of the bags were placed the names and addresses of the donors.

Mrs. Lorne, wife of Rev. William A. Lorne of Lacombe, formerly of this city, is the national and state superintendent and is doing a noble work for the advancement in New Hampshire of the lumbermen's branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Mrs. Lorne estimates that there will be at the least calculation 12,000 men engaged in the woods and along the waterways and in the lumber mills during the present winter, and the necessity of these comfort bags will be at once apparent.

The state superintendent further says that during the history of this one department over eighty tons of reading matter have been distributed and over 6000 comfort bags. Thousands of miles have been traveled by the friends of the department, in all kinds of weather, day and night. Over 100 visits were made last year to camps and many services held. There is no single mission in our state that can compare with this department in extent and outreach and the amount of work done at so small a cost.

Thanks to the energetic and persistent work of Mrs. Bilbruck of this city, the local superintendent of this lumberman's department, many individuals in camp in New Hampshire will be greatly benefited when the bags contained in the barrel sent on Thursday from Portsmouth are distributed.

In due time another barrel will be sent from this city.

There has been no lack of interest shown in the Devatur case, and nearly everyone in Portsmouth has read the account of the court martial proceedings as reported in this paper.

THEY DISAGREE

Controversy Among City's Colored Residents

AUSTIN FUND THE SUBJECT OF ARGUMENTS

Considerable Difference of Opinion Makes Itself Manifest

MATTER MUST BE ALLOWED TO REST FOR A YEAR

The fund of Daniel Austin, left for the celebration of the Emancipation Proclamation, is causing a little stir among the colored people, just at present.

This fund of $500 left to the overseers of the poor in trust, of which the interest, twenty-six dollars annually, is used to help defray the expenses of the celebration, seems to be generating a slight degree of animosity between the members of the Austin-Lincoln Association and another body of the colored people.

Both parties think they are right in the matter and insist on carrying out their ideas of what is a proper method of handling this money and of conducting the celebration.

Those opposing the Austin-Lincoln Association say every colored person in the city was invited to a meeting held last month to speak his or her piece and say what should be done in the matter of a celebration and that the majority voted to have such a program as was carried out on Jan. 1, including religious exercises, instructive work and music. For this they want the interest on the money to help make good the expense, for which they claim they have called on their own resources more than once to even up matters.

The Austin-Lincoln Association says they have no right to this money, unless they celebrate as has been the custom for years, with a dance, and those of the other faction are not members of the association to which, it is claimed, the fund was left.

The Austin-Lincoln Association was to petition the keepers of the fund, asking that the association be given the money to celebrate as in the days of Peter William Neal and others, but found that it was just behind the game. The other party had called a public meeting and on the strength of a required notice in the daily papers and a majority vote of those who attended the meeting, the board of overseers voted to give them the money.

Now, it appears, the members of the Austin-Lincoln Association must wait a year before they can do anything in the way of their organization. This, they say, will not discourage them and they will have a celebration next year.

A colored gentleman, who is concerned, more or less, with the affairs of his people, in conversation with a reporter for this paper on Thursday asked: "Why don't these objectors come with the rest and celebrate?"

Years ago the Austin-Lincoln Association was all right and could claim the money on account of a large membership, but of late it has lost members by death and by removal from the city. The understanding is that any body of colored people may celebrate collectively and that a majority rules."

The present officers of the Austin-Lincoln Association are, president, Charles White; vice president, Miss Annie Baker; secretary, Charles Tilley; treasurer, Miss Ida Lewis. The members of this organization say that as long as the association exists they have have a right to the fund and will be prepared to make the necessary effort to secure the interest of the fund next year.

IN NEW QUARTERS

Charles J. Wood Secures Accommodations for Increasing Business

Charles J. Wood has removed his tailoring establishment from 8 Market square to the old Rockingham National bank building, 5 Pleasant street. His rapidly increasing business made more convenient quarters necessary and these he has secured at his new location.

There is no better equipped establishment of its kind in the state than that of Mr. Wood. The former counting room of the bank makes an ideal display room and here Mr. Wood shows one of the largest lines of up-to-date fabrics ever seen in Portsmouth. The apartment has been handsomely decorated and pleasingly furnished.

There are two large and well lighted workrooms and in one of them has been installed an electrical pressing apparatus, an innovation for Portsmouth.

Mr. Wood succeeded to the business of William P. Walker, with whom he long held a responsible position. The building just vacated was his business home for thirty-three years and it was occupied by Mr. Walker for just one year more than half a century. It was for nearly two generations the home of one of the best known tailoring firms in New Hampshire.

"I am pleased with my new quarters," said Mr. Wood to a Herald man, "but it is not without regret that I leave the old workrooms that have been familiar to me so many years."

BENEFIT DANCE

Given By The Grattan Athletic Club For John Dyer

The Grattan Athletic Club held a largely attended social and dance at Rechabite Hall on Thursday evening, given by the members as a benefit for John Dyer of Dover, a member of the Dover Gaelic football team who received a broken leg in the game played here on Thanksgiving day.

The worthy object for which the affair was held made it a most gratifying success, both from a financial and social standpoint. Great credit was reflected on the members who perfected the arrangements and a substantial sum was realized for the injured man.

Dancing and vocal music furnished much enjoyment for the guests, who were idle but a very few moments during the entire evening.

Refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee were served and all present reported a delightful time.

JOINT INSTALLATION

There will be a joint installation of the officers of Storer Post, Grand Army, Storer Relief Corps and Marcus M. Collis Camp, Sons of Veterans, next Wednesday evening in G. A. R. Hall. A collation will follow the exercises.
